

A project of Manhattan Borough President Scott M. Stringer and the Heritage Rose Foundation

The Heritage Rose District of New York City

Celebrate Earth Day with the Heritage Rose District Spring Planting
Saturday, April 30, 2011 | 11am – 1pm
Marcus Garvey Park
(120th Street and Mount Morris Park West entrance)

Come join Manhattan Borough President Scott M. Stringer, the 123rd Street Block Association, 30th Police Precinct, Carrie McCracken TRUCE Garden, Montefiore Park Neighborhood Association, Mount Morris Park Community Improvement Association, and Harlem Senior Citizens Sculpture Garden Park in celebrating Earth Day by planting over 100 heritage roses at new sites in Central and West Harlem.

The event will kick off at Marcus Garvey Park with activities for community members and volunteers of all ages. Planting volunteers will make their way over to plant roses at the designated new sites in the Heritage Rose District including:

1. Marcus Garvey Park
2. Carrie McCracken TRUCE Garden
3. 123rd Street Block Association Garden
4. 124th Street Garden
5. Montefiore Park
6. 30th Police Precinct
7. Harlem Senior Citizens Sculpture Garden Park
